

Editor The Star: In reference to the appointive tax assessor proposal — I still say it would be taxation without representation, and I am undertaking to prove it.

Take for instance a piece of property assessed at 100 per cent of value. An appointed tax assessor and an appointed board could raise it to 150 or even 200 per cent if they wished, without having any sense of responsibility or fear of having their heads hacked off at the next election.

It would mean that the crooks could tip the tax assessor to get favors and the burden would be dumped upon the honest citizen.

I am in favor of a four-year term for tax assessors, elected by the people, with the right to succeed themselves if the people see fit. If we get a good horse keep him. If we get a balky one vote him out.

As for the real estate taxes, we should have a scale to go by, just as we have for automobiles. You don't tell the tax assessor what your auto is worth. You give him the year, make, and model. He has a scale to go by in determining the value of it for you, which was passed on by the elected representatives of the people. Why can't we have a scale to judge real estate by? We can if the people want it.

An honest man doesn't mind being bound by the letter of the law; a crook needs it. I had rather have a law governing the value of real estate according to location and production capacity, on buildings according to their dimensions, finish, location, and purpose for which they are used.

And as I stated before (letter published in this column January 15, mail edition of the 16th) personal taxes should be collected on income tax basis.

Our correspondent says in effect that some taxpayers are crooked but all voters are honest — a proposition which I won't go along with, and I don't believe our readers will, either.

J. W. W. says an appointed tax assessor could be bribed. But an elected tax assessor could be threatened. It's as broad as it is long. Nobody likes to pay taxes. But they are necessary. And in our modern day few units of government are as simple-minded as the old-time county setup in Arkansas, in which an elective system for tax assessors permits the citizen to assess himself virtually as his conscience dictates.

In many states there is no tax assessor, as we know him. Instead, there is a professional appraiser and his staff. They go around the city and county and personally view every piece of land, every building, every machine, every head of livestock. Their reports are factual, and when they are filed at the courthouse the actual tax assessment is made according to a state law classifying all property.

That's what we are trying to get here in Arkansas.

Then when the citizens vote on a millage proposal on the ballot they will have confidence that the tax is being extended fairly against all property — not just that property which an underpaid, overworked, elective tax assessor has declared to him voluntarily at the courthouse by the citizens — some of them honest, some dishonest, even as you and I.

If there were any merit in the elective system of tax assessors why is it that the federal collector of Internal Revenue, in Washington, and the state Commissioner of Revenues, in Little Rock, are appointive? We do not protest that these appointments constitute "taxation without representation." The federal official is named by the President, whom the people elect. The state official is named by the governor, whom the people elect also.

The fact is, government would collapse if these tax-collecting agencies were entrusted to the tender mercies of the people in a direct election. We, the people, know that to be true.

Likewise it is true that the people of Arkansas clinging to their old-time system of elective tax assessors have nearly ruined the power and finance of local government. They have caused us to raise less and less of our tax money here at home, and to depend more and more upon "aid" from Little Rock and Washington — inevitably surrendering control over budgets to the people who find the taxes to cover them.

The facts are self-evident, and personal opinion is poor material to set up against facts.

Finally, J. W. W. has inadvertently crossed up his own argument. He would welcome a property classification law set up by the legislature and from which the tax assessor could not deviate — so what earthly use would there be in holding an election over an official who was no more than an appraisal clerk? As a matter of fact, your editor, the Joint Tax Revision Committee, and Governor Francis Cherry all favor the very property classification law J. W. W. mentions — but if the assessor isn't removed from politics so he can administer the law without

Another Prison Riot Breaks Out in Pennsylvania

By LEONARD UNGER
BELLEFONTE, Pa. (AP) Nearly 300 convicts who rioted and seized six guards as hostages at the Rockview branch of Western state penitentiary set up a cry today for "better food" and a "better parole system."

The demonstration, without violence, followed hours of tense, uneasy quiet which had settled over the prison during the night and early morning hours.

The rioting broke out shortly before 6 p. m. yesterday, minutes after settlement of a 24-hour out-break in the main part of the prison at Pittsburgh, 100 miles to the west. The convicts took over and barricaded the three main cell blocks.

Soon after daybreak today, Gerald Eby, prison farm superintendent, said "It's been awful quiet—too quiet."

Then, as the morning wore on, the convicts grew restive. Some rattled cell block doors. Many others boomed and shouted derisive phrases and called out: "Have you got the parole board here yet?"

"We want better food" and "We want a better parole system," one prisoner played "Alexander's Ragtime Band" on a trumpet he is permitted to keep in his cell.

Taking point which has been used on a cleanup job in the cell blocks, the convicts daubed crude lettering on bedsheets to make signs demanding "Better food and a better parole system." They

Scout Committee to Plan 1953 Program Tonight

Piney Woods District Committee of the Caddo Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, will meet tonight at the First Methodist Church in Hope to plan the 1953 Scout Program for 1953. The Piney Woods District involves Hempstead, Howard, Nevada and Lafayette Counties.

The program planning session will include activities for Boy Scouts, Cub and Explorer Scouts throughout the entire year starting with Boy Scouts Week in February and ending with the Round-up in late fall. Highlights will be the National Jamboree and Summer Camp.

Also of concern to the Dist. Committee will be the reorganization of some units and the organization of new units over the four counties.

Local Man Shoots Self in the Chest

Phillip Herman Hazlett, 28-year-old veteran, shot himself in the chest with a 22 calibre pistol about 3:45 Monday night at his home at 600 West Division Street.

Investigating Officers, Sheriff Cook, Deputy Chief Shipp and State Patrolman Hughes, said the pellet went all the way through Hazlett's chest. The incident occurred shortly after he had retired to his bed for the night.

He had been despondent for several days, officers said his family told them.

Hazlett was rushed to a local hospital where his condition was described as critical.

Officers said he had bought the pistol yesterday while in town with his mother.

Head Blames Wife for Death of Child

LONOKE, Ark.—Prosecutor J. B. Reed says the foster father of a drowned 5-year-old girl has blamed his wife for the child's death and also implicated her in the abandonment of a baby.

Reed said James W. Head told him and Sheriff E. O. Hamilton yesterday that his wife, Linda, beat Mary Wolfe, their foster daughter, prior to her death last month.

Mrs. Head has been quoted by Reed as saying her husband beat the child and hid the "body."

Both of the Heads are charged with first degree murder and are to be arraigned at Des Arc.

The 47-year-old foster father, being held at an undisclosed jail, previously maintained that Mary died of "natural causes."

Reed said Head, revising his story, told him his wife "hated children" and beat Mary just before she died, then helped him dispose of the "body" in a water-filled tank just outside the Head farm near Des Arc.

The child's body was found last Dec. 30 and a coroner's jury ruled she died by drowning.

The prosecutor said he was checking a report by Head that Mrs. Head abandoned an infant girl in a Vinita, Okla., hotel room on Aug. 27, 1946.

He said Vinita police told him such a child was found and treated for bruises about the head. She later died of an intestinal disorder, Reed said.

Reed added that Oklahoma police found the laundry marked "J. H." on the baby's clothing.

Reed said Head, who was arrested in Concordia, Kans. earlier this month after a nationwide search, maintains that he was not the father of the child.

Little Mary Wolfe was given to the Heads at Elyria, O., last year by Everette Wolfe, now employed as a bus driver at Detroit.

Cherry Opposes Another Race Track in State

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Cherry said today he was "personally opposed to a race track in St. Francis County."

At his news conference, Cherry said he was against the proposed St. Francis location because it would be next to the Crittenden County line, added:

"The people of Crittenden overwhelmingly voted against a track. I think that more than one county should have a voice in a location, as placing a track right on a county line could vitally effect more than one county."

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. A bill to require that horse race track operators hire at least 75 per cent of their employees from persons who are residents of Arkansas was introduced in the House today by Rep. James R. Campbell of Garland County.

Presently the measure would apply only to Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs.

The bill declared that "as a condition of anybody conducting a horse race meeting, every license shall employ not less than 75 per cent of its total employees used in conducting the meeting from persons who are residents and qualified electors of Arkansas. The racing commission shall revoke the license of any person, firm, or associates who is guilty of violating the act."

Appeals Conviction of Leaving Accident

TEXARKANA — Louie F. Singleton, 22, of McNab, was fined $100 and costs Monday on conviction of leaving the scene of an accident charge. Singleton testified he became "frightened" when he fled after hitting Julius Conway 67, Negro, on Highway 71, January 3, Conway died as a result of the accident.

Singleton through his attorney, Boyd Tackett, appealed the conviction and was freed under a $150 bond.

Some 48 County Polio Cases Still Being Treated

The March of Dimes drive is in full swing in Hempstead County and will continue through January 31, Chairman Andy Andrews said today in announcing that over $500 has been collected already.

This year's quota is $8,000 on a basis of patients treated. There were eleven cases in Hempstead last year and about 48 county cases are still under treatment.

The local chapter has spent about $10,000 last year, part of which is still unpaid. In order to meet this deficit and to take care of future cases, the polio chapter needs at least $8,000 from this county alone.

Contributions can be mailed to Andy Andrews at Hope.

Mr. Truman Seems Almost Lighthearted

By DAYTON MOORE
WASHINGTON, (UP)—President Truman surrendered the most powerful office in the world today with "no regrets."

He seemed almost lighthearted, in fact, as he moved through the memory-filled White House for the last time, on last-minute errands.

Now that it was nearly over, a United Press reporter asked the President whether he ever regretted his decision not to run for a second term.

"No, indeed," he said. Up to the last minute, the retiring, 68-year-old President maintained the secret on what he would wear to the inaugural ceremony at the capitol.

His successor, Dwight D. Eisenhower, started a late scramble for black Homburgs by announcing he was breaking with the silk topknot tradition.

Since he didn't bother telling the White House about the decision, Mr. Truman felt free to wear any hat he pleased.

Hall to Head C of C Retail Merchants Group

Hurrell Hall, manager of J. C. Penney Company in Hope, has been selected to lead the Retail Merchants work for 1953.

In his capacity as chairman, he presided over the Merchants' breakfast held at the Hotel Barlow, Jan. 10. It is the decision of the new chairman to make long range plans and work out details as far in advance of the occasions as possible.

Every merchant is requested to bring a suggestive list of promotions to next Monday's meeting, preferably one for each month of the year. These ideas and suggestions will be discussed and plans will be made well in advance of the activities.

In this morning's meeting the group considered a suggested holiday schedule for the year. Proposed holidays for the Hope Retail Merchants are July 4, Thanksgiving Day, December 25 and 26, and January 1. The Chamber office was directed to take a poll by mail of the merchants, concerning the summer Wednesday afternoon closing.

Mr. Hall appointed Ermit Kaden, Hulan White, and Jewel Moore to serve on the ticket sales committee for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet meeting to be held in February.

Mrs. W. C. Moore, Ex-Hempstead Resident, Dies

Mrs. W. C. Moore, aged 70, a former resident of Hempstead, died yesterday at Texarkana.

She is survived by five sons, Grady of Graves, Texas, Charlie of Richmond, Calif., John of Dallas, Eugene of Commerce, Texas and David of Arkadelphia, three daughters, Mrs. Grace Mosley and Mrs. Mamie Brennan of Texarkana and Mrs. Daisy Dryden of Germany.

Funeral services are incomplete, p.m. today at Calvary Baptist Church in Texarkana by the Rev. W. C. Usery and the Rev. James Harris. Burial will be in Rondo Cemetery, Texarkana.

Rules Out Any Appeasement to Aggressors

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower took over the Presidency today with a pledge of American leadership in building free world strength and unity to combat communism.

Clearly, he ruled out any appeasement of aggressors in these words:

"In the final choice, a soldier's pack is not as heavy a burden as a prisoner's chains."

But in dedicating his administration to winning "an earth of peace," Eisenhower in effect told Soviet Russia that he stands ready to engage "in joint effort to remove the causes of mutual fear and distrust among nations" — provided they honestly and in good faith aim toward a secure peace for all.

The new President spoke after solemnly taking his oath of office within the shadow of the Capitol dome. Before him were thousands massed in the broad Capitol plaza. Millions of others heard his words via radio and TV.

Tanks, Planes Team to Hit at Enemy

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SEOUL (AP)—Allied tanks, artillery and warplanes today unleashed another shattering barrage of high explosives on Communist positions across Korea. It marked the fifth straight day of stepped-up bombardment.

U. S. Patton tanks, firing from front line dugouts, blasted Red bunkers and trenches from Choswon to Kumhwa in the Iron Triangle sector of the Central Front. The artillery joined in the thundering attack from farther back.

A heavy overcast blanketed most of North Korea but the U. S. Fifth Air Force said Marine Skylanders and South Korean Mustangs flew through the clouds in strafing and bombing strikes on the Eastern Front.

Sharp patrol fights flared on the Eastern Front and the U. S. Eighth Army said an estimated 105 North Korean Reds were killed or wounded.

Colorful Ten Mile Parade a Whopper

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic marches today in a whopper of a parade.

And riding proudly at its head performing his first chore as new president, will be Dwight D. Eisenhower.

For three hours or more, 10 miles of floats, bands, military units, beasts and birds arranged to parade down historic Pennsylvania Avenue from the U. S. Capitol past the White House.

Like democracy itself this parade has a bit of everything.

A dog sled team from Alaska, 20,000 to 22,000 servicemen and women, 65 musical units, 50 floats, 5,600 civilians including 250 Indians, 3 elephants, 350 horses and a flock of pigeons making as if they were doves of peace.

The effect? A mixture too. Partly patriotic, partly military, partly comic, partly political, partly home state pride, partly religious.

It was no accident that the first assigned first place was built to stress the religion in democracy.

Court Adjourns; Primus Sentence Was Maximum

Cases set for trial at the January adjournment of Hempstead Circuit Court were disposed of yesterday, the following proceedings being entered:

State of Arkansas versus Elijah Bishop, charged with possession of untaxed liquor. Trial by jury, verdict of not guilty.

State of Arkansas versus Amos Ritchie, charged with the possession of more than one case of beer in a dry county. Trial before the Court, verdict of guilty, fined $50 and costs.

State of Arkansas versus Willie Hopson, charged with failure to pay fixed weekly sum for support of minor child. Defendant paid delinquent payments in full to date and cause continued.

State of Arkansas versus Theopila Primus, charged with involuntary manslaughter as a result of an auto mobile accident which resulted in the death of Herbert Lowallen. The defendant entered a plea of guilty and Judge Lyle Brown sentenced him to three years in the penitentiary, which is the maximum in such cases.

The defendant, through his attorney, pleaded for a lesser sentence in view of the plea of guilty but this was refused by the judge. "In view" he said, "of the fact that this is an aggravated case of negligent homicide. This should serve as a warning to you and to all other drunken drivers of the attitude of this court toward such cases," the judge warned.

The jury was excused from further service, subject to call. Judge Brown announced that the trial docket was fairly clear of old cases and intimated that no further jury trials would be necessary before the next regular term scheduled for April.

Rover Boy Has Put His Size 10 Shoes in His Mouth, Says Little Wife in His Column

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Hal Boyle wrote a column describing the kind of ideal husband every woman needs. Today his wife presents a firm rebuttal.)

By FRANCES BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—This time my little man has really put his foot in his mouth.

That is no mean feat for a man who wears a 10-C shoe.

Sometimes I feel my husband was responsible for killing vaudeville — by trying to get into the act. Everyone today is giving bachelor gals advice on what kind of man would make them the best husband.

It's ridiculous. But for my own Rover Boy to do it — well, it simply dulls the edge of wonder. He couldn't advise an unmarried lady porcupine. How can one wife's strolling nightmare tell any other girl about the man-of-her-dreams?

So far as women are concerned, my husband's mind dwells in an ivory tower — size 7½. His information about them is largely based on a childhood reading of the Elsie Dinsmore series — and what the big boys in the Army whispered to him. He needs to brush up on "What Every Lad Should Know."

The best thing you can say about his efforts to pose as an authority on the better sex is that he is like a good-hearted schoolboy with 12 thumbs trying to help the girl next door thread a needle.

Where does he get his ideas? Well, girls, let's see:

He says you really don't yearn for a man who is tall, dark and handsome — that this is just imagination.

I don't want to be ruthless with my breakfast buddy, but the facts are:

(1) He himself can't see the pictures if he sits behind a tall man at the movies.

(2) What is left of his muddy dog looks is turning to silver, and

(3) The nose he flattened as a kid is a perfect match for his smile — ear to ear. Neither of us mind that. Somebody has to look rugged. That's my Rover — rugged.

Now, as to his advice about marrying a bald-headed man because baldies are more romantic and better breadwinners. Could this be because rugged Rover himself looks every day less like an air-dude and more like a Mexican hairless dog? You can't keep trying to crawl headfirst through a pillow each morning to hide from an alarm clock without rubbing off some hair.

And Mr. Boyle's idea of romance and finance is as follows: "I'm going to take you out tonight. How much money you got?"

His prescription for the ideal husband also calls for one who is a tea drinker (intellectually stimulating) and a cigar-smoker (more sociable). He himself drinks tea because his mother did. I smoke cigars. But did you ever try to give a goodbye kiss to a man with a lighted cigar stub in his mouth? How sociable can a man get?

Let me conclude Mr. Boyle's analysis with this point:

He works for a man who is tall, dark and handsome. His boss presumably earns more take-home pay, and he has been bringing it home to the same wife for 10 years longer than Mr. Boyle has been borrowing lunch money from me. His boss has a fine full crop of hair, smokes cigars and drinks coffee.

My own advice, girls, is this: Merry any man you like — even the rugged type. If it isn't a virtue year for the male. They're all habit-forming.

Donald Dill Speaker at American Legion Auxiliary
The highlight of the meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary held in the home of Mrs. C. P. Tolleson Monday night was the talk made by Donald Dill, Civil Defense Director of Hope and Hempstead County.

Mr. Dill explained the reasons for the creation of the Civil Defense program. He said "Civil Defense rests upon the principle of self-protection by the individual, extended to mutual self-protection on the parts of families, neighborhoods and communities, and is operated on the local level with assistance, when needed, from the state and federal government. This is achieved largely by unpaid part-time volunteer workers. Our basic plans as accepted by the Department of Defense are the result of a thorough and prolonged study of the method used by the British and the Germans during World War II with such adjustments and additions as seemed pertinent and imperative for our nation."

Mr. Dill further stated the needs for the Hope area, saying that a tentative program in case of disaster has been set up, such as the availability of electric power units for the hospital, etc., a system of road block control, and a means of communication established. He mentioned the urgent need of at least two fire trucks with pump equipment for rural use.

The also mentioned regretfully that Arkansas is the only state in the 48 states that does not have a civil defense program established by our government.

During the routine business, the president, Mrs. E. P. O'Neal, announced the committee to work with the Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars on the "Womanless Wedding" stage show, to be held the last Friday of January. She appointed Mrs. Joe Jones, Mrs. Mary Haman and Mrs. E. A. Morant to this committee.

"Great as are the preoccupations absorbing us at home," he said, "each of these domestic problems is dwarfed by, and often even created by, this question that involves all human kind."

Again, he said: "It is the firm duty of each of our free citizens and of every free citizen everywhere to place the cause of his country before the comfort of himself."

President Eisenhower set a course based on "certain fixed principles"—nine rules of conduct by which "we hope to be known to all peoples."

To unite with other free nations for strength.

Never to placate an aggressor.

To place duty before comfort.

To help those who help themselves.

To encourage productivity and trade.

To strengthen regional groupings of free peoples.

To recognize the equality of all races and all peoples and, finally,

To make the United Nations work.

"But their observance," he said of these principles, "an earth of peace may become not a vision but a fact."

"This hope—this supreme aspiration—must rule the way we live."

Eisenhower asked for divine guidance for the new administration.

Eisenhower, trained in the ways of war, dwelt on peace as the goal of all Americans and freedom-loving people everywhere. But he called for a strong America and declared, "We shall never try to placate an aggressor by the false and wicked bargain of trading honor for security."

The inaugural document dealt only obliquely with domestic affairs. The emphasis on foreign policy—specifically, on the idea of world-wide collective security—pointed the new administration's course in more of an internationalist direction than heretofore has had the backing of some GOP congressional leaders.

Eisenhower left no doubt he feels the U.S. must continue to play a role of world leadership.

He said, "We are persuaded by necessity and belief that the strength of all free peoples lies in unity, their danger in discord," and added:

"To produce this unity, to meet the challenge of our time, destiny had laid upon our country the responsibility of the free world's leadership."

Faith in the future which binds America belongs as well to the free of all the world, he said.

"It confers a common dignity upon the French soldier who dies in Indochina, the British soldier killed in Malaya, the American killed in Korea," he added.

Eisenhower talked of "the preoccupations absorbing us at home." He said that while "we are concerned with matters that affect our livelihood today and our vision of the future, each of these domestic problems is dwarfed by, and often even created by, this question that involves all human kind"—survival of the free world.

Whether the new Republican-controlled Congress would be satisfied with the subordinate role Eisenhower assigned to domestic affairs remained to be seen.

Eisenhower called it "the first task of statesmanship" to develop strength against aggression.

But the man who led the Allied forces to victory over Germany in World War II—the man who headed Western Europe's new defense forces until he entered politics last June—declared the U.S. stands ready to co-operate in a drastic reduction of armaments, provided all nations prove good faith.

Appealing for a demonstration of such faith, Eisenhower had in mind perhaps America's development of such weapons as the hydrogen bomb in saying:

Son of Arkansas Couple Killed
NUERNBERG, Germany (U) — The 3-year-old son of an Arkansas army couple, Maj. and Mrs. Frank Rhea of Waldo, was injured fatally here Sunday as he walked into the street on his way to Sunday school.

Police said Roger Willy Rhea walked into the street behind a truck as it began backing. He was struck by the vehicle before his mother could reach his side, police said.

Army Wants 53,000 Men in March
WASHINGTON (U) — The army wants 53,000 men called through Selective Service in March — and the Defense Department has indicated last June — declared the U.S. stands ready to co-operate in a drastic reduction of armaments, provided all nations prove good faith.

Appealing for a demonstration of such faith, Eisenhower had in mind perhaps America's development of such weapons as the hydrogen bomb in saying:

"Science seems ready to confer on us, as its final gift, the power to erase human life from the earth."

Here are the "rules of conduct" Eisenhower laid down for achievement of enduring world peace:

"I. Abhorring war as a chosen way to balk the purposes of those who threaten us, we hold it to be the first task of statesmanship to develop the strength that will deter the forces of aggression and promote the conditions of peace."

"In spite of this principle, we stand ready to engage with any and all others in joint effort to remove the causes of mutual fear and distrust among nations, and so to make possible drastic reduction of armaments. The sole requisites for undertaking such an effort are that — in their purpose — they be aimed logically and honestly toward secure peace for all; and that — in their result — they provide means by which every participating nation will prove good faith in carrying out its pledge."

Realizing that common sense and common decency alike dictate the futility of appeasement, we shall never try to placate an aggressor by the false and wicked bargain of trading honor for security."

Mrs. H. J. Wilson Hostess to 1950 Canasta Club
Members of the 1950 Canasta club were entertained on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. H. J. Wilson at her home on the Cale road.

Nandina's in graceful arrangements were used for decoration. High score honors were won by Mrs. Lee Kinney.

Mrs. Tom Cameron, Mrs. Guss McCaskill, Mrs. Ernest Cox and Mrs. Richard Hommer of Hedenda, Calif., were guests of the club. Members present included Mrs. C. G. Gordon, Mrs. Vernon Fore, Mrs. Burke Shelton, Mrs. Lee Montgomery, Mrs. Inon Gee, Mrs. E. M. Sharp and Mrs. Kinney.

Daily refreshments were served by the hostess.

DAR Chapter Chooses Conference Delegates
The Benjamin Culp Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met on Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. B. Hesterly with Mrs. Wells Hamby co-hostess. Seasonal decorations were used in the rooms.

Mrs. J. W. Teeter, regent, presided and the meeting was opened with the ritual and pledge of Allegiance.

The minutes were read and reports of committees were heard. It was voted to send $6 to the Bell Tower fund.

Mrs. Teeter asked that key copy of the National Historical D A R magazine be given to the High School Library.

Delegates were chosen for the annual state conference of the Arkansas Society DAR to be held February 24, 25 and 26 in Fayetteville. Heading the delegation will be Mrs. Teeter, regent, Mrs. C. H. Moore, state chairman of the Student Loan Fund, Mrs. J. A. Cole, Mrs. J. B. Hesterly and Mrs. Edward Bryson.

Mrs. R. P. Hamby gave an interesting talk on Revolutionary Battles Outside the Thirteen Colonies. A delectable salad course was served to fourteen members and guests, Mrs. E. M. Rowland and Mrs. C. A. Haynes.

Bridal Shower Honors
Miss Dorothy Wilson
A surprise kitchen shower feting Miss Dorothy Wilson, bride-elect of Scott William Smith, was given by Mrs. Wilburn Willis and Miss Dorothy Wortham of Gordon on Thursday evening in the home of the former.

The rooms were decorated with arrangements of white daisies placed at vantage points.

The honoree's chair was decorated with blue and white bows and she received a white carnation corsage and a book from the hostesses.

Bridal games were played with Mrs. Ernest Bomar, Jr., winning the prize. Each guest gave the bride-elect her favorite recipe and advice for the bride.

The dining table was overlaid with a white cloth and decorated with blue and white streamers of crepe paper. The gifts were attached to white satin streamers that extended from the spot.

White individual cakes decorated in blue and coffee were served to the sixteen guests.

Mrs. O. R. Peachey, Mrs. Watson Buchanan, and Mrs. Mary B. Smith attended the installation of officers service of Chapter 328 Order of Eastern Star in Hope Thursday evening. Mrs. Peachey acted as installing marshal.

Rev. and Mrs. R. D. Nolen of North Little Rock were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Guss McCaskill and Mrs. D. L. McRae.

Mrs. Burke Shelton has returned from Little Rock where she was the guests of her daughters, Mrs. J.

Miss Nancy Lynn Garrett has resumed her studies at Henderson State Teachers College, Arkadelphia after a week end visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Garrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Holloway of Rosston were Saturday visitors in Prescott.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bemis Chappelle of Willington, Del. will regret to learn of the death of their infant son, Bruce William.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gee Jr., Gall

and Bill were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Yancey and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gee.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke White spent Thursday in Arkadelphia.

Does that tell-tale look on your face say change of life?

A great many women suffer "change of life" after forty. They tire easily, have "nerve", sleep poorly, are hard to live with. Their eyes and face get that "change" look.

Cardui has helped thousands of women to lose that "change" look. Cardui acts to (1) improve appetite, (2) thus build strength and resilience, (3) ease tension and nervousness—sleep better. Let triple-action Cardui help you feel better, look better and be your normal, cheerful self again. Get Cardui today. (Says: "card-you-er")

EVERYDAY MORE CHILDREN are becoming victims of epidemic colds, so don't take chances with your child. See that your child gets plenty of rest, eats moderately, gets plenty of fresh air, avoids over-crowded, over-heated places. If he does develop cold's symptoms of coughing, sneezing, muscular aches and pains, feverishness, put your child to bed and call your doctor.

And even before the doctor comes, it's sensible to give your child St. Joseph Aspirin For Children. Just use as directed like millions of other mothers do. Your child will like these pleasant, orange-flavored tablets. Each one contains 1/4 the amount of a regular adult tablet, so you don't have to break or cut them for accurate dosage. When the doctor comes, he'll probably commend St. Joseph Aspirin For Children.

your good feeling in giving St. Joseph Aspirin For Children. He knows that it quickly checks headaches, eases muscle aches and pains, reduces fever. Don't let this day pass without buying the 50-tablet bottle for 39c, because epidemic cold misery may strike your child this very night! Be wise, be ready with this proved relief, St. Joseph Aspirin For Children.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—There was an air of quiet, dignified jubilation at "Golf House" today over the inauguration of the first real golfing President this nation has had in 30 years, since the death of Warren G. Harding."Not that golf needs the publicity," cautioned Joseph C. Dey, the executive secretary of the USGA,
and curator of the local shrine,
"but it doesn't figure to hurt the game either. I imagine the pictures of President Eisenhower golfing will cause many people to take up the game."So far as Dey has any record,
the only ardent golfing President besides Harding was William Howard Taft, the father of the senator from Ohio, who left the White House in 1913."From the pictures I have seen of Taft hitting the ball, I do not imagine he was very skilled at it," Dey said. "I'm sure that neither he nor Harding was quite in the class with Eisenhower. After all, any man who shoots an 85 over the Augusta Masters' Course, ashe did, is a pretty good golfer."
Eisenhower, Dey pointed out,
was one of 99 members of the Augusta club who commissioned a portrait of Bobby Jones, which will be officially unveiled at "Golf House" Jan. 31. It is planned that Bobby will attend the ceremony if his illness permits him to make the trip from Atlanta.Through Harding, from all accounts, was only slightly removed from the duffer class, there was no question of his devotion to the game. He was a member of the Executive Committee of the USGA in the years he was president, and in 1921 he presented the Open Championship Trophy to Jim Burke of the Columbia Country Club in Chevy Chase.Perhaps not generally known is the fact that the Harding Trophy, emblematic of the national public links team championship, was put up by the then president. There is a story, apparently substantiated, that the bill for the cup came in after Harding's death in office, and that the USGA absorbed it.OUT OF DOORS with

Fishing Dreams for 1953

By AL McCLANE

Fishing Editor

A new year always starts me thinking about what I'm going to do or what I'd like to do in the coming season.Received a letter from Charles Ritz, the Paris hotelman who manages to spend most of his time fishing in remote places. This note was from the Em River in Sweden.
"Enclosed picture of me and two sea trout, 15 pounds and 22 pounds taken on fly. Trout here run from 12 pounds to 30 pounds, which is the greatest fishing I've ever found."The Swedish sea trout is actually a sea run brown trout, incidentally, and the fish are taken in rivers like the Em from Fall through the Spring. Might put this on your list of dream trips."Which reminds me, Fenne Jacobs stopped by the other day with a photo story on Lake Titicaca.This 95-mile-long lake is between Bolivia and Peru; at 12,000 feet
it's the highest lake in the world.
Rainbow trout run up to 34 pounds and according to Fenne, trout of 15 pounds are common.Near home there are big things cooking in Panama and Haiti. Panama is still relatively untouched big game wise, and we predict that next year is going to see a real boom in sailfish and marlin.Port Au Prince, Haiti, has opened up some really hot tarpon and snook fishing in nearby rivers and lakes.On the local scene, I'll make a string of predictions for 1953.
Cape Hatteras in North Carolina will be the hot spot for channel bass. Withacochee River in Florida has my vote for the Orange State's bigmouth bass. Dale Holloway will stay top onthe smallmouth bass ladder and place a few largemouths — but watch for a decline in numbers of big fish taken from now on.Of course Georgia and North Carolina are going to provide most of the prize winning southern large mouths. Striped bass anglers will take the big bulls on Massachusetts and Rhode Island beaches; the Jersey Coast and Coos River, Oregon are always good for a few more.Bonefish addicts can place their money on Islamorada, Fla. If it's bags of bone fish you want, go to Isle of Pines, Cuba, or the outer islands of the West Indies. They're not as big — but plentiful. White mullet, Ocean City, Md., of course the blues will be off Bimini. For snook, August on Lake Worth in Florida. They have a good supply of over 30-pound fish. Trout other than the migratory rainbows are always hit and miss, but I'll go for Henry's Lake in Idaho for the landlocked kind, Michigan's northern streams for brown trout on the fly, and California's lakes for the brown trout on spoon or bait.People keep saying that Nipigon, Ontario, is a thing of the past.
Guess they mean the river because Nipigon Lake keeps growing the fastest brook trout in this here country. Muskie fans can look to Chippewa Ploage, Wisconsin, as always, and if it's real you, off bluefin tuna. That's my roundup.

Seton Hall
Takes Over
Top Cage SpotNEW YORK (AP)—Seton Hall,
the nation's only unbeaten major college basketball team, stands as the No. 1 team in the country today — thanks to its latest winning streak.Basketball fans with long memories will recall that the South Orange, N.J., school leaped into national prominence back in 1941 with a 43-game streak, snapped by long Island University in the National Invitation Tournament. The latest Seton Hall streak reached 18 with four victories last week.Forty-six of the 92 sportswriters and broadcasters who voted picked Seton Hall as the top team. This gave the Pirates 775 points, on a basis of 10 for first 9 for second, etc.The leaders first-place votes in Officially

Porker CoachFAYETTEVILLE, (AP)—Bowden
Wyatt now is officially the University of Arkansas' new head football coach.The 36-year-old teacher of a Jazz-up single wing was released yesterday from a contract which had nine years to run at the University of Wyoming.A week earlier he was offered and accepted the Arkansas job for five years at $12,000 annually to succeed Otis Douglas, resigned.Bill Good, assistant to the Arkansas president, said today that agreement, included in the minutes of the board of trustees meeting, officially tied Wyatt to the post, providing he could get loose at Wyoming. The actual signing of a contract will be a more formality when Wyatt arrives here, Good added.Wyatt said at Laramie, Wyo., last night that he would leave immediately to take over his new assignment.In releasing the coach, the Wyoming board called attention to the "high frequency" with which coaches have broken contracts with colleges.Informed of this, Arkansas president John Tyler Caldwell said:
"We fully appreciate the views of the Wyoming trustees, but naturally we are pleased that Wyatt has been released and can be expected to arrive in Fayetteville within a few days of duty."Four of Wyatt's Wyoming assistants have agreed to join him at Arkansas. Of these, Wyatt said
Dick Hill, George Cafego and John Bailey would come to Fayetteville immediately. He added that Leroy Pearce would come as soon as he completes the current season as Wyoming's ski coach.Two aides who served at Arkansas under Douglas — George Cole and Bill Ferrell — have been retained by Wyatt.Wyatt taking over his first assignment in the rough-tough Southwest Conference will inherit more than 30 lettersman from Arkansas' 1952 squad, which won only two games while losing eight.He will be confronted by the task of converting them from the split and light T formations used by Douglas in his three seasons at the helm to the single wing which Wyatt describes as a
"Tennessee T."Wyatt was a star end at Tennessee in the late 1930s. He says the chief differences between his veterans and that employed by the veterans Bob Neyland at Tennessee isCage Tourney

Cage PlayFAYETTEVILLE, (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks, playing giant killers again, projected themselves back into the Southwest Conference basketball race with a 49-47 narrow conquest of Baylor here last night.The did it with accuracy from the free throw line when the pressure was as great as it could be.
Arkansas had trailed most of the way and was behind 44-47 with 40 seconds left to play. Baylor had possession of the ball and was stalling for time.
